3rd Sunday of Easter

Reflection:

Perhaps, like Peter, we too might count one, two or three times recently when we have denied Jesus by our words or actions. At the beginning of today's Eucharist we made a three-fold request for mercy – "Lord have mercy, Christ have mercy, Lord have mercy." That was our Peter-moment – our chance to be reminded of Jesus' love for us, even though we are sinners. It was also an opportunity to add, "Lord you know everything, you know that I love you."

So we ask ourselves:

- What shape do my denials of Jesus take in my daily life?
- How can I stop those denials and concretely do better at affirming my faith in the risen Christ?
